A woven basket, likely made of straw or a similar natural material, is the central focus. It is positioned on a rough, grey stone surface. A white rectangular tag is attached to the front of the basket with a piece of clear tape. The tag has the words "for sandy toes" written in a cursive, handwritten font. To the left of the basket, a pink ribbon is tied into a bow and hangs down. The background is dark, but several lit candles in white paper lanterns provide a warm, yellow light. The candles are of various heights and are arranged in a row, creating a soft, atmospheric glow. The overall scene suggests a decorative or commemorative arrangement, possibly for a beach-themed event or a memorial.
